BROWNIE 1987

mr. l. brooks lakin . . .

The 1987 Brownie editors have discussed at length to whom the yearbook should be dedicated to this year.

We have chosen for this honor a man who has given much more than his share to Park School. A man who is very dear to my heart and to the hearts of many others who have either passed through his classroom, played for his teams or had a close relationship as an advisee of his.

Mr. L. Brooks Lakin came to Park 26 years ago to assume the role of Head of the History department and J.V. Basketball coach. Quickly, he fulfilled these responsibilities and gained more. Four times he has served as a class advisor along with the role of an individual advisor. Mid-season 1968, he moved up to Boys' Varsity Basketball coach to fill Dave Rosen's spot. The next year his team won the championship, and then again in '72; the only two times Park Boys' B-Ball team has won the championship.

Mr. Lakin has truly earned the love, respect and the title of "one of the best teachers at Park" that former students have awarded him with.

For more than a quarter of a century, this man has given his knowledge, pride, dedication, support and respect to the students at Park. But more importantly, he has given his friendship.

It is with great honor that I, on behalf of the 1987 Brownie staff, dedicate this yearbook to a great man who I am proud call, "Daddy"

"IT IS NOT ENOUGH TO HAVE GREAT QUALITIES ONE MUST MAKE GOOD USE OF THEM"

All my Love,
The littlest (and last)

There is no time
like the old time
when you and I were young.

Fond memory brings the light
of other days around me;
The smiles, the tears,
of boyhood's years.

the memories . . .

Don't you feel a change coming
from another side of time, breaking down the walls of silence
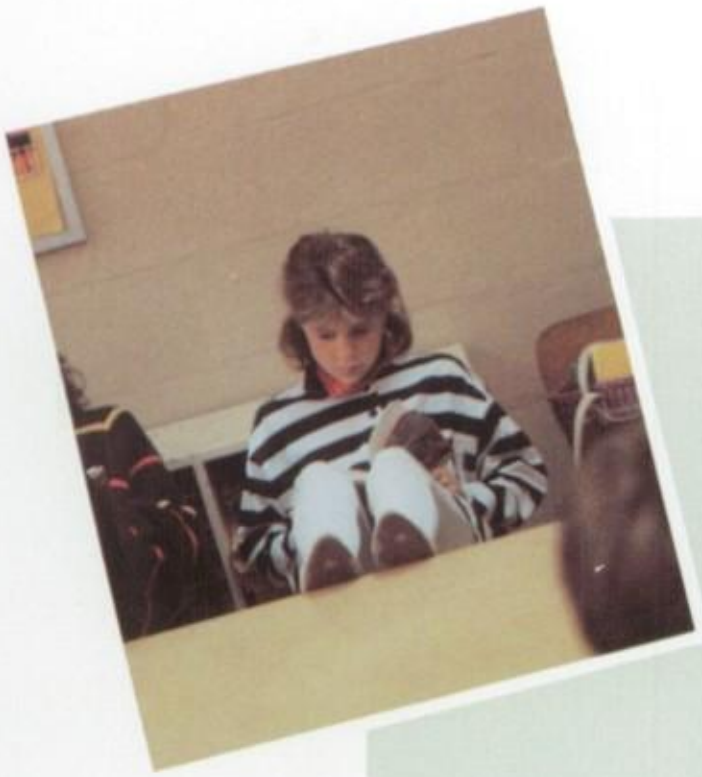
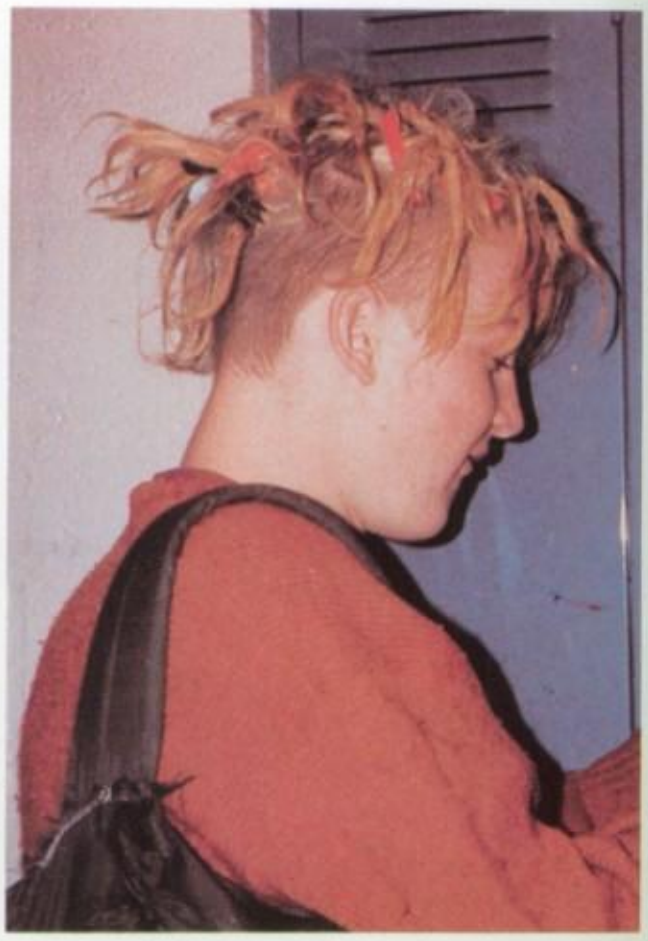
lifting shadows from your mind,
placing back the missing mirrors
that before you couldn't find,
filling mysteries of emptiness
that yesterday left behind,
and we all know it's better
yesterday has past
now let's all start the living
for the one that's going to last.

True education makes for inequality; the inequality of individuality, the inequality of success; the glorious inequality of talent, of genius; for inequality, not mediocrity, individual superiority, not standardization, is the measure of progress in the world.

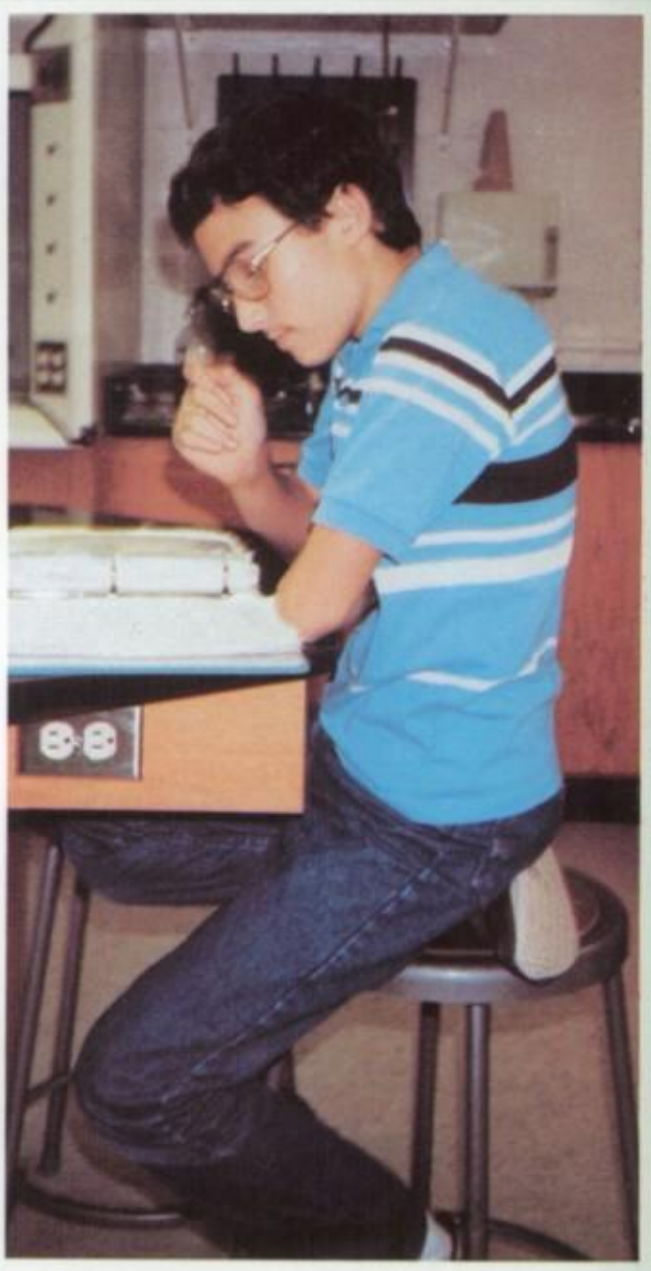
thanks for the memories . . .

Every one who rises above the common level has received
two educations:
the first from his teachers;
the second, more personal and important, from himself.





It's nice to be old enough
for memories
and young enough
to have a future . . .



thanks for the memories . . .

For memory has painted
this perfect day
with colors that never fade.
And we find . . .
at the end of a perfect day
the soul
of a friend we've made.

thanks for the memories . . .

thanks for the

There is a time for some things,
and a time for all things;
a time for great things
and a time for small things.

The wise man looks into space and does not regard the small as too little, nor the great as too big; for he knows that there is no limit to dimensions.

February 24, 1987

Dear Class of 1987,

This snowy morning at Park School looks much like other winter days: the swans on the pond, the snow lying under the bare trees in the woods, the brightening sun coming over the eastern hill. And inside, there is the usual activity, energy, noise, work and play,—the routines of students and teachers going about the business of learning.

But for Seniors this day is one of the dwindling number of days left in your tenure as students—perhaps the last snowy morning, the last with this particular combination of light and air, the last of some particular and special expression of yourselves, as Seniors together.

Such a reflection, and there will be more of them between now and June, brings an awareness of the passages of time, the changes that occur in our lives, both those that are celebrated by major events like Graduation and Entering College, and those that take place in the small, unremarked accumulations of daily life.

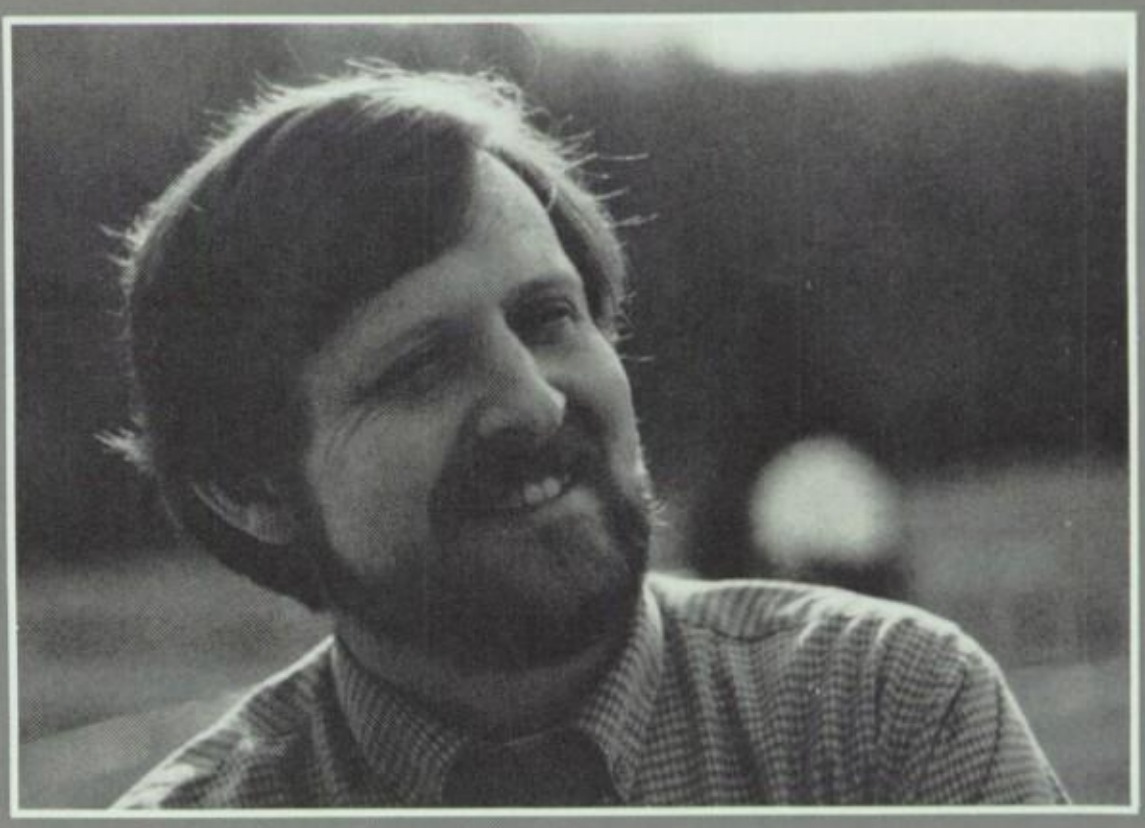
Perhaps the latter mean more.

That is why the record of them contained in this book, the moments of your lives and days between September and June, will continue to connect you, as you grow in other ways and other places, to the school, and to the successful and productive selves you are today.

Those of us who have taught you over your years here will remember these days also, with pleasure in your achievements and accomplishments, and with confidence in your futures.

Sincerely,

F. Parvin Sharpless
Headmaster



To the Class of '87,

Congratulations are in order and I extend them to you on this occasion that marks and important achievement for you. As your gaze shifts forward, it seems to me that you are well equipped for the journeys and challenges that you will face shortly; your packs are heavy with imagination and reason, qualities that can and will combine in potently creative unions (remember Goya and his aquatint, "The Sleep of Reason Produces Monsters"?).

A brief recap of the Park School Philosophy and a demonstration of the ways in which the Class of '87 measures up would be simple enough here but the tone of that exercise wouldn't suit the grittier character of our relationship which has been forged in the trenches and tempered over time. And the "Class of '87" is a phantom anyway; your individual lights shine so brightly for me that I'd be hard pressed to define the combined glow. Instead, if I could, I'd give you each your due, in an immense abstract expressionist historical panorama that would have as its subject your escapades of the last three years. I'd need a palette with a full range of emotions and a steady hand but I'd have no trouble coming up with the images. It seems like you were planting trees and saying so long to Rosemary just yesterday, remember?

And when this enormous painting is finally finished and tucked away on this page for the generations to ponder, I could look back every now and then with some pride for having survived you but also with great appreciation for the opportunity and priviledge of sharing your lives at Park. It seems to me that your continued success is assured, you've got talent in abundance and enough energy to supplement BG&E. Use it wisely, it's what really separates you from others; that and the strength that comes from having your individuality confirmed in a way that is so uniquely our own. Good luck!

This is the time to remember

These are the days to hold on

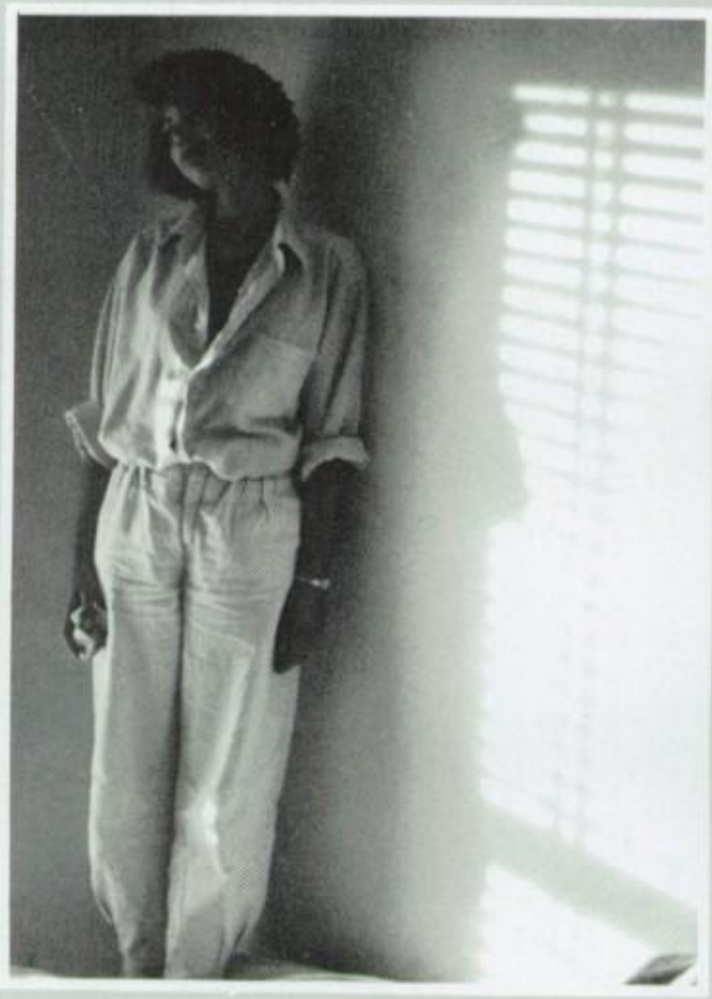
LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL !!

Grant us the wisdom to distinguish between the things one can and cannot do something about. the fortitude to do something worthwhile about the first and the peace of mind to endure patiently the second.



. . . there's really a basic understanding among all creatures. We're not a different entity from the rest of the wild world; we're part of the natural world. Each living thing is an individual with its own life to lead and problems to solve. The tortoise is not stupid to pursue what appears to be an aimless path. She is searching for adequate conditions in which to lay her eggs. Frigate birds are not wicked for harassing other birds to steal their food, but are only responding to the urgent necessity of feeding their young.

Risk taking is the essential first step in making decisions crossing new frontiers of knowledge, accepting responsibility for discovering who we are and what we can do. The commonest and most difficult form of risk taking is when you have to make a decision. No matter how carefully you prepare you will always find there is a gap between your present situation and your desired goal. Eventually you will have to decide whether to leap that gap or stay on your side of it. To venture is to risk anxiety but not to venture is to lose oneself. Like happiness, security is elusive. To find it you have to risk it.

-John Layman

Anna Laude

High walls, less penetrable than brick, than steel, walls of adamant lay everywhere between everything mouth's opened and spoke and nothing came back but an echo from the wall. It was a fact so profound and agonizing, the wonder is there was no concert of screaming from the people who lived with the fact and did not know they endured it.

-William Golding

When I was young
It seemed that life was so wonderful
A miracle
Oh, it was beautiful, magical,
And the birds in the trees,
They'd be singing so happily
Oh, joyfully

Oh, responsible, practical.
Then they show me a world
Where I can be so dependable
A pinnacle
Oh, intellectual, cynical.

MOM, DAD & JEFFREY

To my little sister Liz-
I remember: The best summer 1986; DS, MB, BL, SC, AT, RK, (to name a few), the FF club, Rehobeth with Chuckles, poker, "sex on the beach," army songs in the rain, Ferry to Atlantic City, changing into bikinis, Don't forget me when I'm gone, Kron cookies, getting lost on the way home-hi Ricky and Jackie! Debbie's house with Matt, 4 in one bed, weekend road trips to Washington and Philly, Sunday lunches at Fridays, trying to walk up the arch, Gordon's crabs with B, B, M, S, our plans (were we wrong!), twister, driving to UMCP at 5 am, surprising Abbie in Florida, the Dorn twins, buying out the airport, Manhunter with Jen-the theater, parking lot, 3X on the way home, party on Old Court with JF- at least we got rid of that----! Following the Lamborghini with AF and JF, Mark's b-day party at UMCP (Why do they call him Sni? Leaving with "GU" and "Blue", all of us in Brucie's room, getting a ticket for parking in the fire lane (thanks BD!), getting so lost on the way back to GU (thanks again BD!!), we said GeorgeTOWN not George WASHINGTON!, Debbie at the gas station (pee-body), GU with Jen and Julie-Shut up Liz! 3 skating reunions, escaping Stefi's house, the bridge over city ave, Laurie almost missing her ride and Jill almost missing her plane, Balto. reunion with Allyson (oh yeah and Laurel), Greg's hot tub party (where's that 5 ball?), skate this way, later bud! Our sleepover guests, the master chef at breakfast, sharing the comics-New York Times financial page for BD! Escaping to Debbie's after search and seizure, Benny's pool hall with LC, BR, LH, DR (nice pose Laurie), going to camp and Frank's, Pee wee's playhouse, word of the day: OK! Playing pool at Doug's with JP, my new hat! Surprising Janine with LC-Tony please let us leave! New Year's Party with Jen in D.C., great ratio (5:4), questions, give me head, John (?), parade ratings-later days dudes! Tha flamers at flowers and fancies (FF!) Mark-bye, bye, bye . . . bye! We ARE Joe bowlers! Ski Liberty-the best ever! "just find our car," dinner at Franks then . . ., 2 for the price of 1! Georgetown b-ball with Ally (and Melissa), altitude sickness, nice to see you GUYS for 10 minutes and great parking job BD! Our friends on I-95 (TZ was that you behind us-B and B were you still in the parking lot?) Jen and Laurie (and Jill) snowed in at our house, naval academy mixer withAlly and Stacy, Billy Joel concert then Genesis! constant dieting-will we ever lose weight? Brian (was that his name) in Philly- then Adam! Earrings from SE-me losing one that night (they were so expensive too!) 4L in 20 minutes! Scott the vacuum, Charles (oh you're Charles) trying on strapless prom dresses with Jen, trying on ugly prom dresses with Ally. How many more pairs of boxers will I buy and keep for myself? Will Orlando really move to Balto? Will he ever keep his promises (and can he handle it?) Will Orlando really come to graduation? None of this would have been the same without you-

I love you - Jen

P.S. It was your rock!

Change is just around the corner
no time to run away
we' ll just have to face it
it' s time for a new day.

No more playing house or skinning knees,
jumping rope or climbing trees.
We' ve outgrown the show and tells,
finger paints and recess bells.
Now it' s time to pick up and move on like it or not our childhood is done.

Change is just around the corner
no time to run away
we' ll just have to face it
it' s time for a new day.

We'll have to start playing grown-up games now,
let's just hope we understand how.
No more asking mom and dad
and blaming them when the decision's bad.

It's time to follow our own dreams-
As scary as it may seem . . .

Change is just around the corner
no time to run away
we'll just have to face it
it's time for a new day . . .

LAKE
Class-of-87

there's a time you come of age,
hold your breath,
turn the page,
on your own,
round the bend,
welcome to the mystery-
of childhood's end.
